

Rate card

Coaching for education leaders with Shane Leaning. Three ways to do it. Pick what you can commit to. Both packages can be paid monthly across the year.

The Year RECOMMENDED

£1,440

Nine one-hour sessions, roughly one a month across the academic year. £120 a month over twelve months, or pay up front. Monthly means we catch things while they're still small, and you're never spending the first twenty minutes on recap.

Termly

£870

Three ninety-minute sessions, one per term. £72.50 a month over twelve months, or pay up front. Longer sessions, with a decent gap either side. Good if a whole year feels like too much right now.

Single session

£390

Ninety minutes on one thing you need to think through properly. Paid up front.

Included, whichever you choose

- WhatsApp access between sessions: voice notes, a quick sense check, a read of something before you send it.
- A written summary after every session, so you've got the thinking on paper.
- A single session comes off the cost of a package if you book within four weeks; termly comes off the Year if you upgrade within a term.

Practicalities

- Sessions are online. Shane is in Shanghai and works across time zones, so early mornings and evenings are usually findable.
- Move a session with 48 hours' notice and we'll find another slot. Packages run twelve months from the first session.
- Pay monthly across the year instead of in one lump. Stop at any point and you only pay for the sessions you've actually had.
- Six leaders at a time, maximum, so your context is genuinely held between sessions.

Shane is a member of the European Mentoring and Coaching Council and works to its Global Code of Ethics. What you say stays confidential.

Start with a free 20 minutes: shane@shaneleaning.com

educationleaders.co/coaching